Ramadan...

Ramadan is the ninth month of the Islamic year, the holy month of fasting ordained by the Koran for all adult Muslims of the Islamic faith. According to the Koran, the fast of Ramadan has been instituted so that believers "may cultivate piety"; this particular month was designated because it was the month during which Muhammad received the first of the Koran's revelations.

"Ramadan is the (month) in which was sent down the Qur'an, as a guide to mankind, also clear (Signs) for guidance and judgment (Between right and wrong). So every one of you who is present (at his home) during that month should spend it in fasting, but if any one is ill, or on a journey, the prescribed period (Should be made up) by days later. Allah intends every facility for you; He does not want to put to difficulties. (He wants you) to complete the prescribed period, and to glorify Him in that He has guided you; and perchance ye shall be grateful." Al-Baqara 2:185

The fast during Ramadan begins each day at dawn, when the "white thread becomes distinct from the black thread," and ends immediately at sunset. During the fast Muslims are forbidden to eat, drink, or smoke. Before retirement each night, special congregational prayers are offered in which long passages of the Koran are recited.

The night between the 26th and 27th days of Ramadan, on which the first revelation occurred, is called the Night of Determination, during which, according to the Koran, God determines the course of the world for the following year.

The day after the end of Ramadan is called the Fast-Breaking and is celebrated with special prayers and festivities.

Happy New Year,,,,,

What did you learn??

I learned that a simple conversation or short dialog with a wise person is worth a month of study.

I learned that no matter where you are now the important is the destination you are heading for at this moment.

I learned that better for us to be a turtle on the right track, than to be a gazelle on the wrong path.

I learned that the key to fiasco is trying to satisfy each person you know.

I learned that better for us to regret what we have done, than to sigh for what we haven't done.

I learned that good work is way too better than good talk.

I learned that people forget how fast you achieved your work, and remember the quality of your achievement.

I learned that many get advices, yet few only benefit from them.

I learned that a good climber focus on the target and does not look below, where risks distract the mind.

I learned that some people swim towards the ship while many others lose their time waiting for it.

I learned that it is not over for people when they lose, yet when they retreat.

I learned that final winners, are those who can tolerate and be patient.

I learned that two of the most effective arms owned by the human being are time and patience.

I learned that we shall dream yet we shall not forget to stay realistic at the same time.

I learned that when we smile all people around smile at us, but when we cry we cry alone.

I learned that a big difference resides between retreating... and running away.

I learned that the fruitful tree is the one attacked by others.

I learned that one of the most beautiful feelings is when you from the heart of your hearts that you did the right thing though all people around you opposed you.

I learned that everything great in life was a small idea in the beginning.

I learned that a smile does not cost anything.. yet means a lot.
